

- 3 The diagram shows the production possibility curve XX of an economy that produces both consumer goods and capital goods.

If the economy moves from point M to point N, which diagram represents the most likely position of the production possibility curve YY in the future?

